

Take-home message

- Higher Education should be part of the European Talented Network.
- Honors programs at Higher Education: International Faculty development is needed.
- Netherlands frontrunner: networking for more research on honors in Europe.

Teaching strategies for honors:

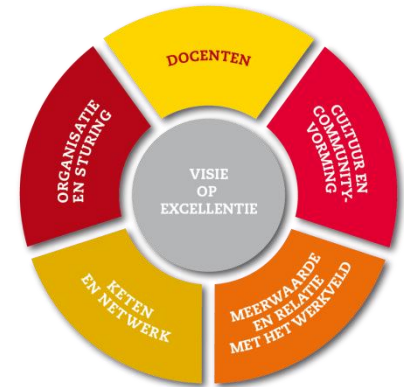

- Creating committed community
- Enhancing academic competence
- Offering bounded freedom

Facts & Figures

- 23 participating HEIs
- Euro 50,000 (&matching)
- Growing participation of students in honors programmes
- Sirius network is extending its activities to secondary and primary education

Double focus of the Programme

1. Focus on the institutions' goals, their vision for the whole institution and the performances they wish to achieve (including the feasibility of those performance targets);

2. Focus on the learning function of the program as a whole. With these points as the framework, Sirius has build up a community of participating and interested institutions oriented towards the gathering and sharing of knowledge.
